Newfoundland and Labrador’s offshore industry is buzzing with activity. In early 2008, the Cahill Group of Companies was awarded the fabrication of the subsea manifolds for the North Amethyst offshore oil development, operated by Husky Energy. North Amethyst will be tied in to the existing White Rose oil field, 350 kilometres off Newfoundland’s coast. It represents the first subsea tieback project in the region.

Hear first hand what it takes to execute a project of this magnitude!

Join senior project representatives John Henley with the Cahill Group and Gordon Phillips with Husky Energy for the first annual Cahill Lecture as they open your eyes to some of the challenges and opportunities available within our offshore industry.

Open to all interested students and faculty; seats are limited.
