Cahill is pleased to continually support Memorial’s Faculty of Engineering and Applied Science. Coupled with the Cahill Engineering One Help Centre, this lecture series is held annually based on areas of interest to students and faculty.

This lecture will offer insight into what the careers and career paths of engineering graduates look like. Speakers will represent a range of engineering disciplines and fields including construction, oil and gas and consultancy. Career progression, project examples, work-life balance and challenges and opportunities will be shared with time for questions and discussion.

Open to all interested students and faculty; seats are limited.

DATE
Thursday, March 17, 2011

LOCATION
Angus Bruneau Engineering Lecture Theatre (EN 2006), S.J. Carew Building

TIME
11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.
Refreshments to follow.